FEATURED RELEASE

Life and Death Row

The story of capital punishment through the eyes of the young people whose lives have been shaped by it. Going inside prison walls and meeting America's youngest Death Row inmates; this trilogy focuses on key aspects of the system: Execution, Trial and Crime.

NEW PROGRAMMING

The Magic of Mushrooms

This programme reveals why this hidden kingdom is at the forefront of research. From penicillin to poisons, environmentally friendly packaging to cancer treatments, come and discover the surprising and fascinating magic of mushrooms.

Deep Down and Dirty - The Science of Soil

It is a fragile layer on the surface of the land - yet essential to all life on Earth. But where did soil come from and how was it made? What does the future hold for soil and what does this mean for global food production?

The Power of the Placebo

They are the miracle pills that shouldn't really work at all. Placebos don't contain an active ingredient. Now they are being shown to help treat various diseases. Why do they work and how could we benefit from the hidden power of the placebo?

I Was There - The Great War Interviews

The Imperial War Museum holds an extraordinary treasure trove of First World War eyewitness testimony. Filmed 50 years ago, only a tiny fraction of this footage ever made it to air. Personal interviews with soldiers and civilians, their voices can be heard for the first time.

Secrets of Bones

There are over 62,000 species of vertebrate of every size and shape. Each skeleton differs in critical ways and those differences are decoded to reveal an animal's complete life story - not only how it moves, where it lives and what it eats, but also its entire evolutionary journey.

Bunkers, Brutalism and Bloody-mindedness: Concrete Poetry with Jonathan Meades

Every now and again, architecture goes through a phase of not caring whether it is liked. It asks us to find beauty in what is commonly regarded to be ugly. In this series, Meades explores the story of the Brutalist movement across Europe.
